What's new:

William's Love Prelude: How can I not love you, when you are everything and nothing to me? Here, I would ask you to put my hands to your heart, and here I would ask you to put my hands to your lips. Here I would ask you to sing to me - 'when you are nothing to me, I can still be everything to you.' From that day I have loved you, and I will love you as long as I walk this earth, until eternity came and took me to a different world. Let me be a flower for you to stare at, and in your eyes let me feel joy, my dear - I love you. Beautiful William, please gift me your love. For I have loved you since that first day my eyes beheld you. Make me a part of you - that is the only thing that I wish for. If I could have wings to fly, and a mobile phone that calls you whenever I want, then I will be yours. Love speaks to all, and your voice is speaking of love, and it is a love I hold so dear. Thank you - let me be part of you as you are part of me. The love I feel in my heart - let me kiss it with all my might. We spent the evening in the lounge at William's club - when the music is playing as loud as it should be, I know that people are going to have a good time. I wanted to be here with people that I want to be here with. Before long, William took his phone from his pocket - for there was a message that we needed to hear. The initial 'love' was said with beaming smile on William's face. 'I love you,' he beamed. William's heart fluttered with joyful feelings and I do admit, I did, too. 'I love you too,' I said. It was an honest statement, and yet it still felt like a lie, a hesitation. But somehow, it sounded right to me, it felt like the right thing to say, although it didn't explain everything. It was a good beginning, a foundation - an indication that 'we' were here to build something. 'How was your first day of work?' was all he enquired. His smile broadened. 'Shocking,💎'
